

DOUGLASS A. MITCHELL, Partner

Mr. Mitchell is a partner in both the Complex Commercial Litigation, and Government Controversies and Public Policy Litigation Practices. With more than two decades of litigation, trial and appellate experience, and with experience around the globe, he helps guide clients to achieve positive outcomes before, during or after trial.

Clients turn to Mr. Mitchell when they face complex, high-stakes matters. He has, for example, successfully represented clients in matters relating to civil racketeering and fraud. He has defended individuals in large, multi-defendant criminal prosecutions involving, among other things, mortgage fraud, racketeering and organized crime. He has also counseled clients facing government investigations.

Mr. Mitchell has represented clients in matters ranging from multi-jurisdictional disputes involving business torts to international efforts to enforce multibillion-dollar judgments entered against Iran for its participation in acts of terrorism. He has represented victims of international terrorism in their efforts to hold accountable those who carried out and facilitated the terrorist attacks that injured or killed victims.

Among the matters Mr. Mitchell litigated before joining the firm are:

- Representing terrorism judgment holders in a multi-jurisdictional effort to enforce billions of dollars in judgments against the Islamic Republic of Iran;
- Represented victims of terrorism against an international bank accused of providing financial support to a known terrorist organization;
- Represented defendants against a multibillion-dollar claim in a precedent-setting invocation of the state secrets privilege by the US government;
- Represented US company in multi-faceted international dispute involving theft of intellectual property, antitrust and civil RICO claims in multiple US and foreign jurisdictions;
- Represented executors of the estate of a prominent American businessman in a multibillion-dollar investigation by state attorney general;
- Represented executors and trustees of various large estates against claims of undue influence; and
- Represented several defendants in large, federal criminal RICO and fraud prosecutions.
